

The background is a collage of three images related to port and marine construction. The top image shows a large blue oil tanker ship docked at a pier with several workers in orange safety vests on the deck. The middle image shows a large white and blue ship docked at a pier with a long metal walkway leading to it. The bottom image shows a long pier under construction in a harbor, with a worker in a yellow suit and umbrella on the pier, and a city skyline in the background.
